

Te Tiro Iho a Te Manu provides us with the opportunity to canvass a wide range of issues of relevance to in-house lawyers including strategic, practice and management and soft skills sessions. This year the conference sessions include:

Strategic Thinking – what’s happening out there and why does it matter to you and your organisation?	Practice and management skills that you need today and can use tomorrow.	Personal development for the workplace... and for life!	Community building and knowledge sharing
The local and global economy, the changing world of work and what it means for in-house lawyers in New Zealand Shamubeel Equub, Economist	Legal Operations – Moving beyond the theory Speakers – Sam Kidd, Law Vu and in-house lawyers	Distractions, disruptions and disturbances - how to get work done while living the life you want Nicola Brown, Efficiency, Organisational and Executive Coach	Unconference Sessions Something to share? Back by popular demand, these sessions will give conference delegates the opportunity to nominate then vote on topics for discussion with their in-house peers. Facilitated by ILANZ Committee members
(Re) Building Trust with stakeholders Lead by: – Nicola Sladden, Banking Ombudsman Helen Davidson, General Manager Legal and Policy, Engineering NZ	Building a legal function – 3 different environments, 3 different scenarios and lots of great learnings to share. Erin Judge, Chief Legal Advisor, Oranga Tamaraki, Ministry for Children Emma Warwick, Legal Counsel, Seequent Hayley Evans, Head of Legal and Risk, Wellington City Council	Neediness – the not so hidden function that could be compromising your most important conversations. Stuart Van Rij, Head Coach for Asia Pacific for Camp Negotiation Systems and Practising Lawyer	Will you #BeTheOne to start a mental health movement in your workplace? Grant Pritchard, Sourcing Manager at Spark and ILANZ Committee member shares what happens when you combine an idea and a desire to make a difference with passion, compassion and colleagues!

Strategic Thinking – what’s happening out there and why does it matter to you and your organisation?	Practice and management skills that you need today and can use tomorrow.	Personal development for the workplace... and for life!	Community building and knowledge sharing
Trends for in-house – what’s happening? Results from ILANZ and Deloitte from the in-house survey and a chance to compare notes with other in-house lawyers on what this means for your workplace.	Team Dynamics – tackling the hard stuff Grevis Beard, Worklogic	Authentic engagement Building relationships with Māori collectives. Tracey Peters, Te Puni Kokiri Kirsten Hagen, Crown Law	Dynamic Dunedin Described by CNN as having a “quiet, understated cool”, Dunedin belies its size with a range of innovative businesses, technology start-ups and some ambitious development plans. Hear from local Dunedin lawyers who are at the centre of the action! ILANZ Dunedin Satellite Network
Turning Workflow Management into insights – how to move past timesheets and into driving value Hayley Evans, Head of Legal and Risk, Wellington City Council	Algorithms and the Law Look beyond the hype about artificial intelligence and take a deeper dive into the more practical legal issues that can arise from artificial intelligence and algorithms. A team from the University of Otago including : Alistair Knott – Associate Professor, Department of Computer Science Joy Liddicoat – lawyer, researcher and member of Artificial Intelligence and Law Project.

Strategic Thinking – what’s happening out there and why does it matter to you and your organisation?	Practice and management skills that you need today and can use tomorrow.	Personal development for the workplace... and for life!	Community building and knowledge sharing
	Crisis Management – what happens when you are the news? Case studies and Tips Andrew Cordner, Group General Counsel, Fonterra Co-operative Tim Peacocke, General Counsel, Samsung Electronics New Zealand Limited		