*Partner with us to connect,
support and lead the in-house
legal community*

ILANZ Profile

ILANZ was established in 1987 to meet the needs of in-house private sector, government and not for profit sector lawyers ("in-house lawyers") for national representation and networking. The establishment of ILANZ recognised the distinct interests and needs shared by lawyers providing professional services to their employers.

The number of lawyers practising in-house is growing with 30% of all practising lawyers now undertaking in-house roles.

Our core objective is to connect, lead and support the in-house profession. We seek to always be member focused, collaborative, quality driven and innovative.

ILANZ offers a variety of professional development and networking opportunities throughout the year both in the main centres and increasingly in regional areas. ILANZ also produces a monthly e-newsletter, provides members and subscribers with ongoing information on items of interest and runs a website with articles and resources for in-house lawyers (ilanz.org).

Our flagship annual conference provides the opportunity for our members and subscribers to gather together for two days of professional development, networking and collegial support. Each year we challenge ourselves to innovate and evolve whilst retaining the strengths of a conference rated consistently highly by participants.

Who we are

Members and subscribers typically comprise of lawyers working for private and publicly listed companies, central government, local government, quasi-government bodies and regulatory agencies.

Conference delegates cover a board range of roles including:

- General and Legal Counsel from the largest publicly listed and private companies in New Zealand
- Chief Legal Advisers and Legal Counsel from central and local government and Crown legal departments and Crown entities
- Compliance & legal managers
- Crown counsel
- Corporate services directors
- Private law firm partners and senior associates
- Barristers
- Management and HR Consultants

Our core objective is to connect, lead and support the in-house profession.

We seek always to be member-focused, collaborative, quality driven and innovative.

38th Annual ILANZ Conference

From small beginnings nearly forty years ago, the conference has grown to be a major event in the in-house community's calendar, attracting more than 400 delegates.

Designed by in-house lawyers, for in-house lawyers, we aim to bring our members together and inspire professional and personal development by exploring a wide range of relevant issues – from big picture thinking to practical takeaways, legal to practice management, and soft skills to wellbeing. It provides an excellent opportunity to undertake targeted profession development toward members' annual CPD requirements.

We also endeavour to provide significant networking opportunities during the conference as many in-house lawyers work in small teams or are sole practitioners. It's also a great time to catch up with old friends and ex-colleagues, exchanging knowledge and spending time discussing the conference experience.

The conference has three networking functions – a welcome function to open the conference, a social event on the middle evening and it concludes with celebrating outstanding practitioners in the in-house community at our Gala Dinner and Awards Celebration.

All conference registrations include attendance at the Welcome Function, Social Function and the Gala Dinner and Awards Celebration.

Destination and venue

Tākina, meaning to invoke, to summon, to connect, to bring forth, is the name gifted by Taranaki Whānui to Wellington's convention and exhibition centre. Opened in mid-2023, the venue was built for the benefit of the city, region and country, to provide a place from which to share the stories of the nation.

Not only is it located in Wellington's cultural and entertainment precinct, and near the stunning waterfront promenade, Takina is within walking distance to a wide range of accommodation providers and just a few minutes' walk to the city centre.

Home to Parliament, this compact and creative city has no shortage of things to do and see – from award-winning eateries and a vibrant coffee culture to a treasure trove of shops, countless walking and biking tracks and a jam-packed events calendar. We look forward to welcoming you to Wellington.
